

2017 Town Hall Observer Response Form

Simply and clearly, Town Hall Observers are “observers” only. They may roam between the five Panels (groups) and observe the formal discussions being held as a part of the Town Hall proceedings. As Observers, they do not sit with the Participants at the Discussion Table; they sit in extra chairs provided in the Panel Rooms. They may participate in the evening receptions, meal functions, major plenary sessions, and may visit with participants about the topic at any of these social settings. Typically a person who wishes to be an Observer is very interested in the subject but their schedule does not allow them to be a full Participant, or someone who might be affected by the Town Hall’s outcome, or perhaps a visitor who simply wants to learn more about the topic under focus and the Town Hall process.
